Sprinkle Family

Hello!

It's great to meet you!
Thank you for taking the time to get to know us!

We've been together since 2016 and married since 2019, meeting in college at 18 and 20 and falling in love almost instantly. Over the years, we've shared adventures traveling across the U.S. and the Caribbean, and we've now made a cozy home in Atlanta, Georgia. We're so excited to share our hearts with you and hope this profile book gives you a glimpse of the love, laughter, and joy we hope to fill a child's life with.

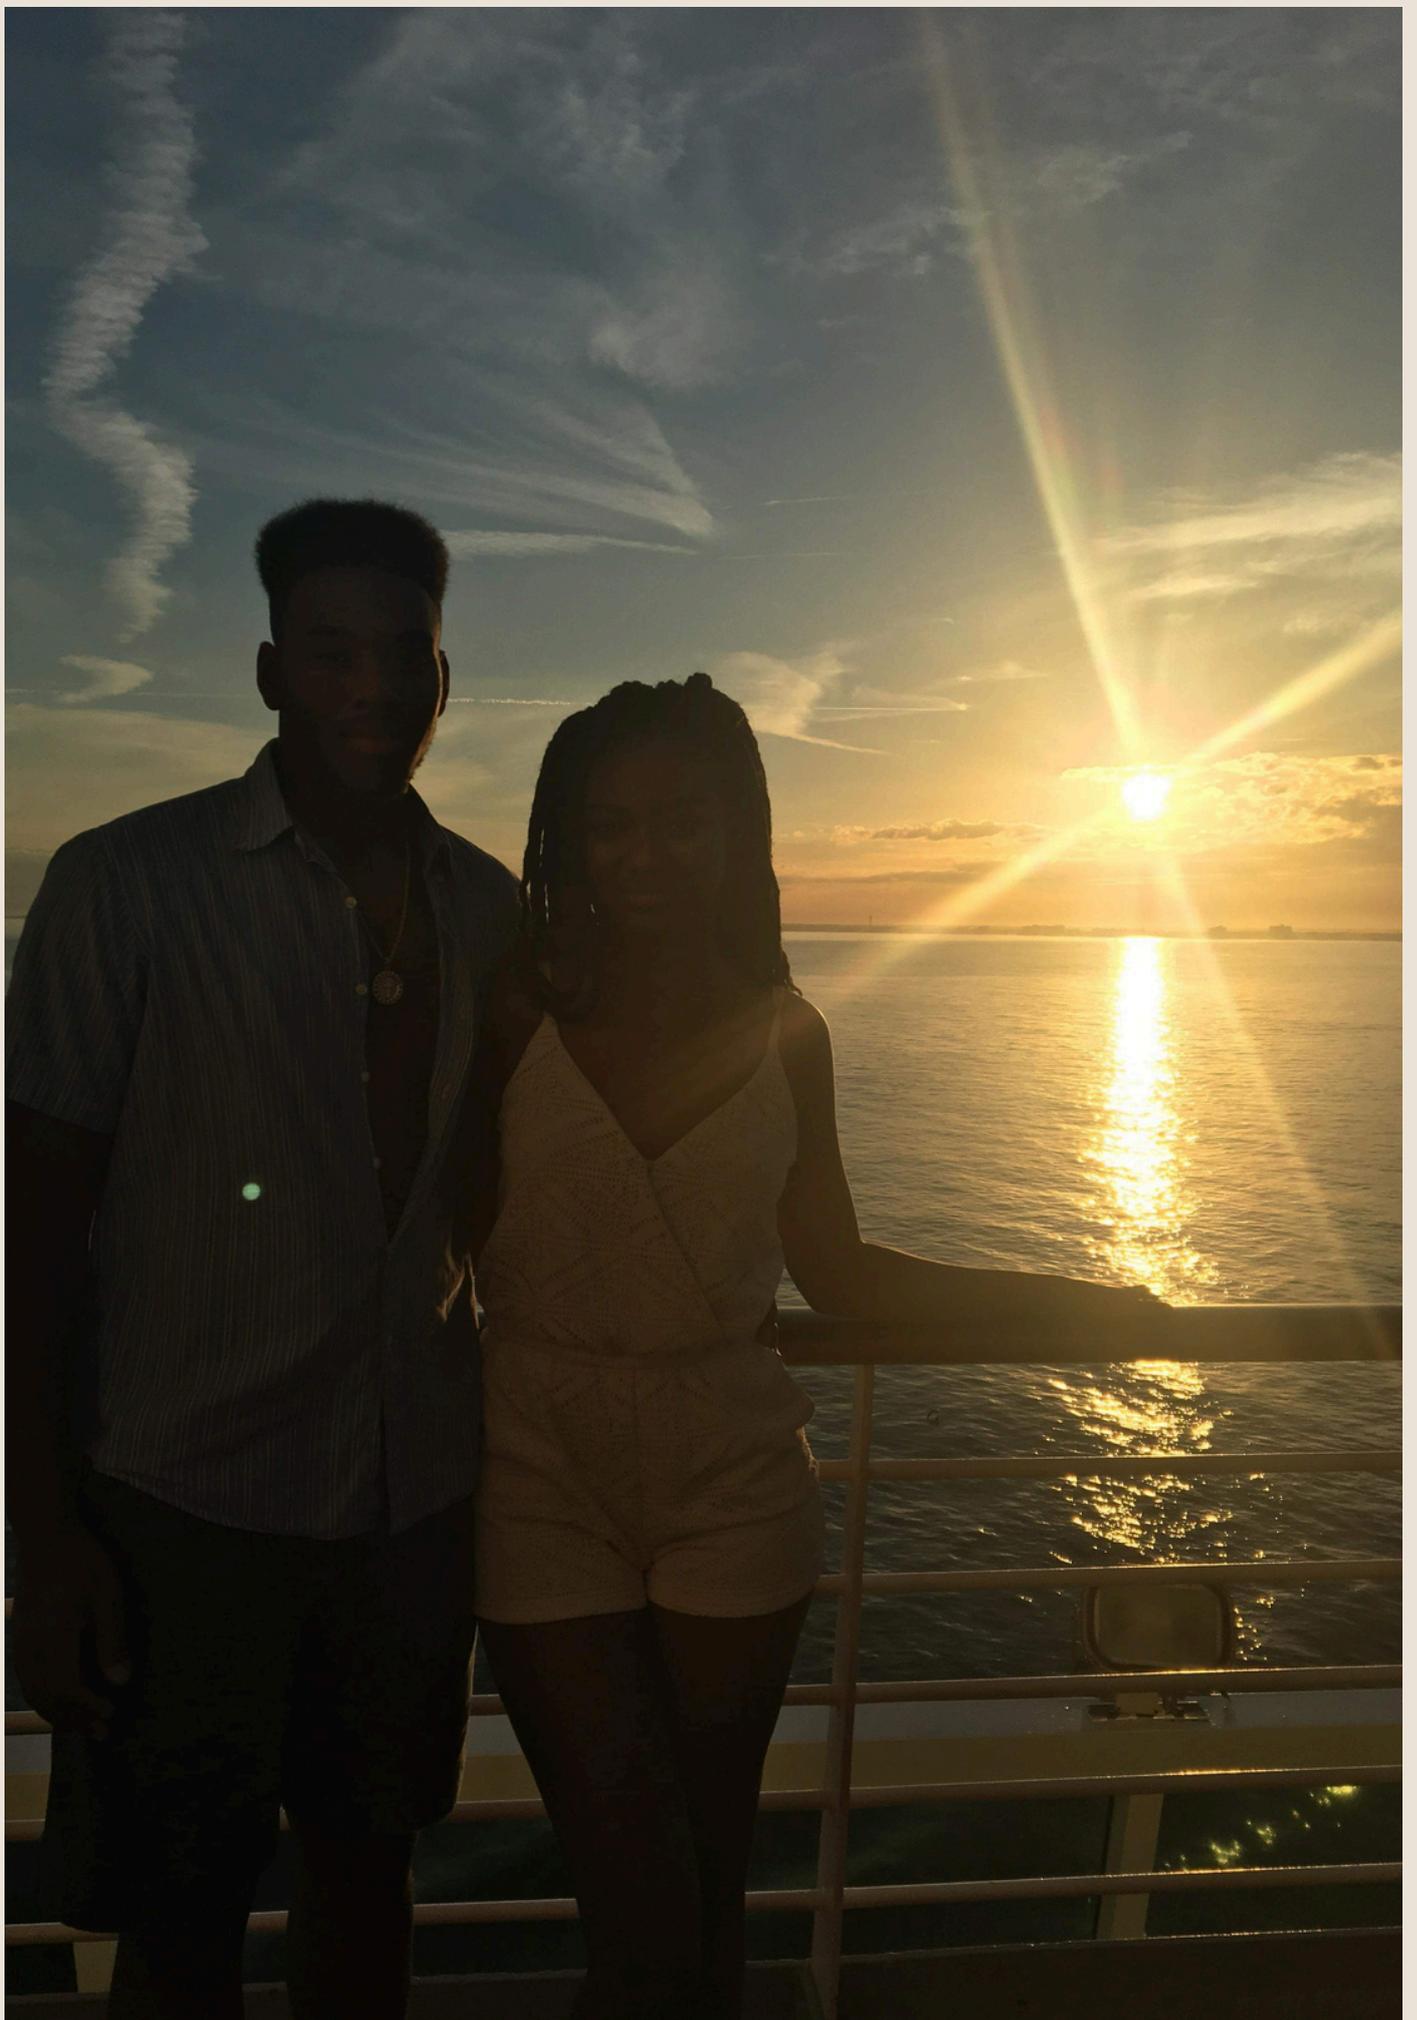

Our Story

Why we are adopting

We are choosing adoption because becoming parents has been on our hearts for a long time. This will be our first time stepping into parenthood, and we feel deeply grateful for the path that leads us here. We have always imagined sharing our everyday life with a child—family dinners, bedtime stories, holiday traditions, and the simple, meaningful moments in between. We are ready to pour our love, patience, and commitment into raising a child in a home filled with security and joy. Adoption is also personal to our family. Daniel’s mom and uncle were both adopted, and their stories are a beautiful part of his family’s history. Because of them, we have seen how adoption can shape generations with love and belonging. As a Black family, we also hope to see more Black families adopt and to help create greater representation in adoption. Most of all, we want to share our life with a child and build a family rooted in love, culture, and unwavering support.

Daniel is the kind of person who brings steady strength and quiet confidence into every room. He grew up in a small town in Arkansas, where he learned the value of hard work, faith, and community. In 2015, he was drafted as a pitcher by the Cleveland Indians after playing baseball at Auburn University—an accomplishment that reflects both his dedication and perseverance. After his playing career, he coached youth sports for two years, pouring into young athletes not just in skill, but in character. He also earned his master's degree in business administration and is someone who truly enjoys learning and growing in every season of life.

Meet Daniel

At home, Daniel is active, fun-loving, and grounded in his faith. He loves being outdoors—jogging, grilling, or planning a new adventure—and enjoys watching a good action show, traveling, and trying new foods. Most importantly, he is a believer in Jesus Christ and strives each day to grow in his faith. He is steady, joyful, and excited to be a present, hands-on dad.

Layla has a master's degree in education and has spent her career serving others. After years working in nonprofit spaces, she now works in higher education and educational technology, where she continues to support students and educators. She is thoughtful, driven, and deeply compassionate. Her faith in Jesus Christ is the foundation of her life, and she intentionally pursues a growing relationship with Him each day. More than anything, she is excited to become a mom and to fill her child's life with warmth, encouragement, and steady love.

Meet Layla

Layla brings joy into everyday moments. She loves celebrating holidays and decorates for all of them, Valentine's Day, the Fourth of July, and everything in between, because she believes in creating traditions and memories that feel special. She enjoys reading, baking, and has been riding horses for over 20 years, which reflects her lifelong love of animals. She also loves Chinese food, traveling to new places, and finding simple ways to make life meaningful and fun for the people she loves.

Sammy and Stella are our 4- and 6-year-old Akitas and the very best of friends. Sammy is our big cuddle bug. If you're in bed or on the couch, he'll happily curl up as close as possible. Stella is playful and loyal, and she'll be your instant best friend if you happen to have a treat in hand.

They love our daily walks and absolutely light up on a mountain hike. Being outside together as a family is one of our favorite things, and Sammy and Stella are always ready for the next adventure. They bring laughter, warmth, and so much personality into our home every single day.

Meet the fur babies!

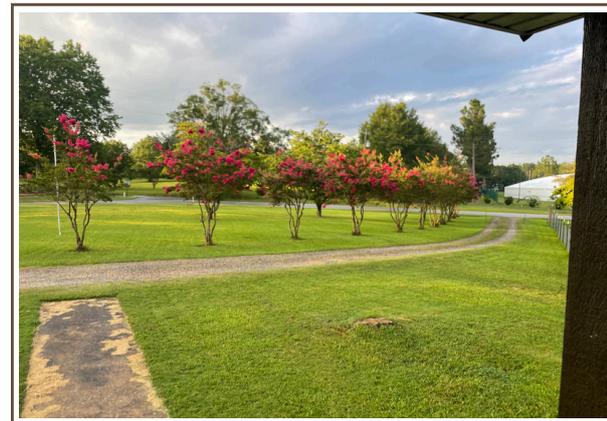

Dee is our beautiful 11-year-old mare who has been by my side from Texas to Georgia. She came into my life during a season when I needed something steady and grounding, and she reignited my lifelong love of horses. She represents patience, trust, and the quiet joy of caring for something so strong and gentle at the same time.

Sadie is our sweet 24-year-old rescue mare who joined our family a little over a year ago. She loves face and neck scratches and has the kindest spirit. Watching Dee and Sadie together feels like watching best friends who know each other's rhythms perfectly.

Our Home

We live in a cozy 1970s ranch-style home in a suburb just outside the Atlanta metropolitan area. Our home has three bedrooms, two and a half baths, and beautiful hardwood floors throughout. One of our favorite spaces is the bright, airy sunroom where natural light pours in and makes the whole house feel warm and welcoming. We've thoughtfully decorated each room to feel peaceful, joyful, and inviting—creating a space where a child can feel safe, celebrated, and truly at home. Outside, we're surrounded by beautiful foliage and flowers, and we often hear the peaceful sounds of our neighbors' roosters crowing and sheep baahing, which gives our home a sweet, countryside charm.

Our Land

We are blessed to live on just under four acres of peaceful, open land. Our property is home to blueberry bushes, a fig tree, a pecan tree, and a pear tree, little reminders each season of growth and sweetness. Two beautiful horses roam the pasture, and our two barn cats add their own charm to daily life. In the summer, the land is lush and green, full of life and sunshine. Even in the winter, we enjoy the steady beauty of our magnolia tree just outside our windows. Our neighborhood is quiet and peaceful, offering space to play, explore, and simply enjoy the outdoors together.

Billy & Sheila

Daniel's Side

"A grandparent is a little bit parent, a little bit teacher, and a little bit best friend."

Daniel comes from a close-knit family that has always prioritized love and time together. He has two brothers, all in long-term relationships, and they share a strong bond built on loyalty, laughter, and showing up for one another. We adore his sweet niece, Aaliyah, who just turned two and has already brought so much joy to the entire family. Daniel's parents have been married for over 30 years and model a steady, committed marriage. They love football, grilling, and spending time outdoors, and they have been our biggest supporters over the years. They are warm, encouraging, and already so excited to welcome another grandchild into the family.

Anthony & Bea

Layla's Side

"Grandparents make the world a little softer, a little kinder, and little warmer."

I come from a small but very supportive family who has been present and encouraging throughout our entire marriage. My parents are both deeply involved in their respective fraternity and sorority communities, which reflects their commitment to service, leadership, and lifelong relationships. My dad is a retired environmental chemist, and my mom is a lawyer who works in employee relations. They both value education, integrity, and strong family bonds. They love traveling the world and embracing new adventures together, and they are excited to share their warmth, wisdom, and love with a grandchild.

Our Promise

Our promise is simple and wholehearted: we will raise your child with deep love, steady joy, and intentional care. We promise bedtime stories and warm prayers, birthday celebrations that feel special every single year, and holidays filled with traditions, laughter, and togetherness. We promise to create a home where kindness is practiced daily and where memories are made around the dinner table, in the backyard, and in the quiet, meaningful moments in between. We promise hugs and kisses every day so they never question how loved they are. We promise beach vacations, sun-kissed cheeks, and long days spent outside in the fresh open air. We promise to share our love of animals and, when the time is right, to buy them their very first pony. Most of all, we promise to give them a beautiful present filled with security and a future full of opportunity, always reminding them that their story is cherished and their life is a gift.

Thank you
