

Andrew and Danny

Hi there!

We are Andrew and Danny, best friends, husbands, and hopeful dads excited to welcome a child into our lives.

Our relationship is built on friendship, laughter, and teamwork, and we're ready to share that same love with a child.

Why We are Adopting

BOAT RIDE ON LAKE MICHIGAN

IN PALM SPRINGS, CALIFORNIA

Adoption feels right for us. Danny's family was formed in non-traditional ways, and that inspired us to grow our family this way too. We're open to an open adoption and want to support both you and your child however we can.

We admire the courage it takes to consider all the options for your baby's future. Thank you for taking the time to get to know us.

Our Story

We met right before the pandemic and managed to squeeze in three “real” dates before everything shut down. After that, we kept things going with Zoom dates, proof that not even a global pandemic could keep us apart!

Our relationship is built on honesty, communication, and supporting each other, with family always at the center. We both work from home now, which gives us the ability to be present throughout the day and fully attentive to the needs of a baby. We take long walks along Lake Michigan, cook dinner together, and make regular trips to see our parents, siblings, and nieces and nephews.

For us, family is what makes life meaningful.

Our Faith and Traditions

BOTH SIDES OF THE FAMILY GATHERED TOGETHER FOR OUR WEDDING

DANNY WITH HIS SISTER AND HER KIDS AT THE RENAISSANCE FAIRE

We plan to raise our child surrounded by the richness of both faiths and cultures, and we will welcome and weave in their own cultural background just as seamlessly, making sure they grow up feeling fully seen, loved, and connected.

ANDREW WITH HIS SISTER AND DAD IN SCOTLAND

Andrew is Jewish and Danny grew up Christian, so we celebrate both sets of holidays in a way that feels natural and joyful. Our families love learning about each other's traditions, whether it's lighting candles for Hanukkah or gathering for Christmas morning, and we've found our own rhythm that brings everything together.

Our Hobbies

SKIING IN ITALY

We love being outdoors and exploring new places, and we're excited to share those adventures with a child.

In 2023 we opened a campground in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, which has been a big adventure to grow and enjoy together, and one we can't wait to experience as a family.

Our work sometimes takes us overseas, and we hope to bring a child with us on these trips so they can discover the world right by our side.

Closer to home, you'll often find us hiking, skiing, or out on the water, all things we look forward to doing with a little one by our side.

Andrew is an artist who loves all kinds of creative projects, while Danny finds joy in gardening, and we can't wait to invite a child into both of those parts of our lives.

Meet Andrew

Andrew is the heart of our family.

He's steady, hardworking, and deeply committed to keeping us connected, all qualities he'll bring to fatherhood every single day. He's adventurous and open to new ideas, whether that's exploring the outdoors or creating something artistic.

Andrew has a natural love for kids and is always their biggest advocate, patient and kind with every interaction. He's also a talented cook and designer, able to make both meals and spaces feel special.

ANDREW PAINTING IN HIS HOME OFFICE STUDIO

Andrew loves oil painting and looks forward to sharing that creative part of life, with plenty of colors, brushes, and space to make art together.

His life motto is “I’ve never regretted a swim,” so he never passes up a chance to jump in the water, and can’t wait to teach his little one how to swim.

He also practices yoga, which helps keep his mind clear and his body strong, and it’s the kind of calm, steady routine that fits naturally into family life.

Andrew is inspired every day by his grandparents—Holocaust survivors who built a loving life in the U.S and he hopes to share their strength, kindness, and gratitude with a child.

Meet Danny

Danny is full of energy and empathy, with a kindness that draws people in.

He's the one you'll find at the kids' table, making up games or convincing the nieces and nephews to hit the water park. He loves staying active, trying new experiences, and traveling whenever he can.

DANNY WOODWORKING IN OUR GARAGE

Danny has a way of pushing through challenges with determination while always keeping family and fun at the center of life - all important qualities in a father.

DANNY SKIING IN THE DOLOMITES

DANNY PICKING TOMATOES IN OUR BACKYARD

Danny grew up spending summers at his family's lake house in Wisconsin, where he became a skilled water skier who can even handle one ski.

Danny is inspired by his father's generosity, empathy, and strong ties to his community, qualities he works hard to carry forward.

His favorite vacation spot is Palm Springs, where he loves the mix of desert, mountains, and poolside relaxation.

In a past career he earned credits in a few big-budget movies, though he jokes it was just as an assistant.

He's also a big fan of roller coasters and theme parks, and has a knack for bowling, mini-golf, and pinball.

Our Home

We live in a cozy craftsman-style home in Milwaukee, filled with warmth, natural light, and the smell of something cooking in the kitchen. Inside, there's a comfortable living room with a fireplace and lots of plants, and outside, a big backyard with space to play, garden, and explore. Our street is a quiet dead end where kids ride bikes and neighbors wave as they pass, and the whole area feels peaceful and safe.

Most days you'll find us cooking together, relaxing by the fire, or spending time in the yard with our dog, Peaches. The house has plenty of room to grow, and we often imagine a baby here—crawling across the cozy rugs, taking first steps under the old trees out back, and being surrounded by the simple, everyday joys of home.

Meet Peaches

Our 7-year-old mini dachshund, Peaches, is a pro at finding sunny spots to nap in and is wonderful with kids.

She's gentle with Danny's 5-year old twin nephews and even gets Andrew's baby niece to rub her belly, which tells us she's more than ready to welcome another little one into the family.

ANDREW AND HIS SISTER IN SCOTLAND

Family is a huge part of our lives.

Danny's side is full of energy with seven nieces and nephews ranging from five to twenty-one, while Andrew's sister just had a baby girl who already has everyone wrapped around her finger. Both of our families are tight-knit, and our parents are over the moon about being grandparents. Our sisters are just as excited to welcome another little one into the mix. We spend most holidays together and our families get along so well that we often celebrate as one big group. We see them at least once a week, so our child will grow up surrounded by cousins, aunts, uncles, and grandparents who can't wait to shower them with love.

Our Thoughts on Parenting

RIDING A LOG FLUME WITH OUR NIECES

Becoming parents means sharing our lives and building a home filled with love, laughter, and family traditions.

We want our child to grow up knowing they are unconditionally loved and capable of anything they put their mind to. We picture a cozy home rhythm with active days, strong family connections, and a balance of fun and learning. Travel and exploration will be a part of life too, giving our child the chance to see the world and discover new experiences along the way.

In Closing

We are committed to giving your child unconditional love, openness, and a life full of opportunities. We promise you respect and an open relationship at the level you are comfortable with.

Thank you for taking the time to read our story and consider us as adoptive parents. We can only imagine the strength it takes to face this decision, and we are deeply honored that you spent a few moments learning about our lives. No matter what you decide, we admire your courage and wish you and your child nothing but love and the very best.
